Headteacher's Introduction

It has been another wonderful week at Naburn School with lots going on again! There are two highlights for me, this week. Firstly, Tony (Yo-Yo) has written a performance script about the Easter Story, in which the whole school is taking part. I witnessed some very powerful expressions and superb acting but I'm not going to say much more about it - I don't want to spoil it for you! Please join us at our Easter Service at St Mathew's Church on Thursday 21st March 2pm to see this live! The second is of course World Book Day! It was brilliant to see all of our children (and teachers) dressed up as their favourite book characters and taking part in the many activities we planned to celebrate this day! Have a great weekend!

Mad about Maths

We learnt to order events and use time-related words when making our very own 'yummy' sandwiches.

Northern Lights spotted in Naburn!

We learnt some amazing facts about the Northern Lights. Did you know that they crackle and hiss? We watched a video of the Lights and then discussed the colours and movements. We then had a go at making our very own Northern Lights artwork using various lines in chalks and smudging them to create different effects. They look fantastic and have made a great display.

YEAR 3/4

KS2 pupils looked fabulous today, their costumes ranged from ladybirds to Little Red Riding Hood - they all looked amazing!

In assembly they learnt about the 21 'Snook' statues (a bookish breed), who are in York at the moment.

Then they made some wonderful corner bookmarks, including tigers, rabbits, penguins and snakes.

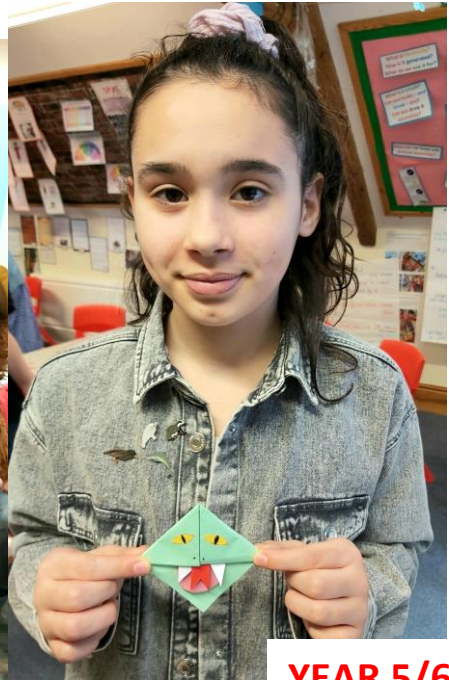

Very well done everyone, a super day!

Mary Poppins (aka Miss Kelley).

Year 5/6 had a great YoYo drama session this week to help prepare our Easter Service. Thankyou Tony! We also had some super helpful Maths mentoring sessions, in which children tutored each other on the areas of Maths that they find tricky. We completed our amazing 'Eboracum' (Roman York) information posters (now on display on our staircase) and, last but not least, enjoyed all sorts of amazing World Book Day fun on Thursday – from costumes to origami bookmark making; book reviews and discussions to LOTS of reading! We're hoping Ms De Vil won't be back any time soon though...
